

IDEAS FOR COLLEGE CAMPUS RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT

Thank you for considering how Nurturing Network's simple but highly effective "Clustering" process would be a useful resource to you in identifying and motivating Volunteers in your campus community. I hope that these suggestions will serve as a helpful starting point for encouraging your participation in TNN's campus outreach efforts. We have found that this "Clustering" process and the administrative support offered by our professional Staff makes it easier for students to offer their gifts with greater ease.

Mary Cunningham Agee, President and Founder

☞ Our Clustering materials include several well-written articles along with guidelines for Campus Cluster Coordinators, a 15-minute motivational talk appropriate for small group presentations and camera ready artwork for church bulletins and local newspapers. We also have a DVD, brochures and a motivational one-page flyer that we can provide in quantity and at no cost. We also have a new college poster that is available for downloading from our Website or in hard copy in two different sizes if this resource would be helpful to you.

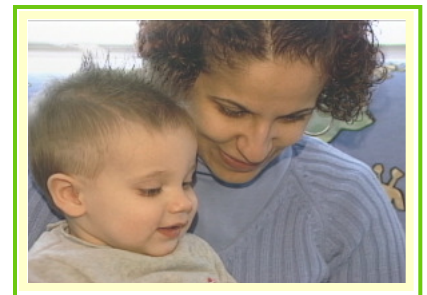

☞ In order to ensure that students on your campus are fully aware of our Network's nationwide program of practical support, you may want to contact key Faculty, Administrators and Staff members at the Student Health Center who may have an interest maintaining a supply of our brochures in the reception area. You may know of others -- leaders in your faith community or student pro-life organization who would appreciate having an invitation to join our life-affirming efforts. If you are in a position to facilitate the inclusion of a link from your campus website to TNN's web site, please don't hesitate to let us know. This resource is vitally important to college students in need of TNN's immediate and confidential support.

☞ In the hope that you may be able to encourage the inclusion of Nurturing Network information in the orientation packets provided for incoming students, Our Clustering Packet includes a comprehensive one-page description of our services that other institutions have found to be very helpful for this purpose. This one page flyer is available in high resolution format for downloading from our Website and reproduction in any quantity that you may need.

☞ University students and friends within many campus communities speaking about TNN's services to students or resident advisors in campus living groups. I mention each of these possibilities to let you know that there are many options available that you can choose from as you build a program of support on your campus.

☞ We have found that most institutions of higher learning that are truly committed to providing more choices for their women students find our Network to be an important resource. Colleges such as Notre Dame University, Stanford University, Boston University, UCLA, Catholic University of America, Bryant College, University of San Francisco, Gonzaga, Creighton University, Texas Tech University and University of Detroit, to mention just a few, are active members of our Educational Network.

☞ Our Educational Guidelines and Questionnaires are readily available online at www.nurturingnetwork.org. This brief Questionnaire is a helpful resource in fully understanding the support that any college is most comfortable offering. Please assure the administration that they would not be expected to admit any woman who did not meet their normal admission standards. Our Network membership includes a wide variety of academic institutions thereby enabling us to meet the differing interests and abilities of college students who call upon TNN for assistance.