From Our Mailbox

With your support and encouragement, The Nurturing Network serves mothers, children and their families. A grateful grandmother sends a donation in honor of her own mother along with this thoughtful note expressing gratitude for the loving care that her daughter received from TNN. This tender family gathering says a thousand words . . .

Dear Mary,

Please accept this small gift in my mother's name for the help that my daughter received from The Nurturing Network during her junior year at Virginia Tech. Michelle was pregnant, alone, and did not know where to turn until she found her way to TNN. Thank God for Elisabeth and her family who reached out to my daughter in her time of need providing a Nurturing Home, clothing, companionship and counseling. My granddaughter, Audrey, is now a beautiful two and a half year old and my daughter is a courageous and loving mother. With your help, she was able to finish her college degree and raise Audrey. Thank you for all that you have done for us and everyone else whom you help. God bless you. With gratitude,

Margaret

Dear Nurturing Friend,

Valentines Day, 2007

As we begin The Nurturing Network's third decade of life-affirming service, I am reminded of your generous support that has helped so many women find the courage to overcome fear and learn to trust again. While so many of the Valentine letters we receive each year are cause for joy and celebration, we must never forget those for whom this day is bittersweet:

"How I wish you were known to me 16 years ago. I was a pregnant 19 year old in New Mexico who went to my mom for help. She drove me to the nearest abortion clinic. I remember being scared and knowing I had no way to raise a child. I have four children of my own now and will help in whatever way I can. God bless you for your work. I am crying. I only wish I had help like this years ago. I wanted to have my baby; I still cry and hurt. I will never forget the horribleness of having no place to go and the very sad results. With love, Tara"

Although we are able to serve hundreds of college and working women each year, there are still many who are unaware of TNN's program of practical compassion. Please consider making a special donation to support our expanded outreach efforts so that the words "if only I had known" will someday be said no more.

It is difficult to ever place a financial value on any human life—but, in truth, your Valentine contribution will literally save lives. Because we depend upon this annual Valentine appeal for one fourth of our total budget, your generosity at this time is especially important.

On a personal note, I thank you for putting the real meaning of this day into action. Your gifts will be remembered for a lifetime—and beyond.

With a mother's love and gratitude,

Mary
